only 90,000 bushels changing hands

Considerable uneasiness was shown by longs in corn because of their inability to get rid of part of their holdings to advantage. While there were some reactions and advances from the lowest levels reached during the these price changes were the result of support from the larger lengs.

Conditions surrounding the wheat market were disappointing to the bulls. The news and statistics were mainly bearish, yet the bulls were strong enough to hold values around the resting spots of Friday, December closed unchanged, but the May future was off production of Millionaire's NATIONAL INC. as much as 3-Sc for the day. It is given out on good authority that the big longs in December wheat in the East have liquidated their holding, and are now even on the market. CHICAGO, November 27.—There was a bear victory in the grain market today. Declines were established of 7-s guaranteed fast. It is difficult to get some lines of fine and fancy yarn dead, and 1-8 to 1-4 for oats. The selling power in the various cereals was at no time pronounced, but, on the other hand, there was a lack of buying interest, and this was the case especially in corn. Longs were anxious
